The Stranger House Reginald Hill

Reginald Hill has written dozens of books, but this is the first one that I have read. The Stranger House follows two people, Australian mathematician Samantha Flood and Spanish ex-almost-priest Miguel Madero, who travel to a small British town called Illthwaite to search out the history of their respective families.

The Stranger House by Reginald Hill - Goodreads

Reginald Hill's writing is erudite, witty and thorough; The Stranger House describes two families, one from Australia and one from England and their experiences from the 16th century to the present. Some of the narrative is reminiscent of Chaucer's Canterbury Tales including flashbacks.

Reginald Hill is very good at summoning up the atmosphere of the Lakes. He never just parachutes in local colour. You get the Lakeland fells and villages as they really are in a way few other others can match. The scenes where Jaysmith goes fellwalking are superbly written, as a fellwalker myself I can attest to their accuracy.
